TETUAN, September 16.

A TREATY of Peace and Friendship is concluded between William Pettigrew, Esq; his Britannic Majesty's Consul General, and Hadge Mohemet Temin, Alcaide of this Place, whereby all former Treaties of Peace and Friendship ween Great Britain and Morocco are renewed and confirmed and the new Treaty is gone to the Emperor to be ratified. Pettigrew has likewise agreed with the Alcaide for the emption of Sixty Captives, his Britannic Majesty's Subjects; and Preparations are making for getting Part of them to Fez, and for embarking the Whole. The Tangerine ser has taken a Dutch Vessel, loaden with Wheat, which have made a Prize of, and sent the Crew, consisting of Men, into Captivity.

Gibraltar, Sept. 25. We are informed, that the Plague has ed in all the Towns on the Coasts of Morocco and Fez, that very little remains of it in the interior Parts of that ntry.

Vienna, October 21. Some Private Letters from Lower gary say, that the Janizaries, who are in Quarters in Bosnia have revolted against their Chief; that some Thousands em had assembled themselves together, and plundered the n of Zwornicke, after having massacred the Bashaw who manded it, and some other Officers who endeavoured to them to Reason; that they afterwards set Fire to some neighbouring Villages, and that several of the Inhabitants had perished in the Flames.

Hague, October 31. The Arrival of M. de St. Contest, Minister from France, deprives us of the Presence of his Highness the Prince Stadtholder, the Ceremonial not yet regulated between his Serene Highness and that Minister, who requires a Return of his Visit from the Stadtholder, the Prince never has, nor scarce ever will yield to; and what obliges his Serene Highness to remain at London at Ambassador has made his Entry, and has had his public Audience of their High Mightinesses. In the mean Time Affairs suffer for the want of the Stadtholder's Presence, ially in the Province of Holland, the States of which have to no Resolution in their last Assembly upon the important Points which were the Subject of their Deliberation. By Journey which his Serene Highness lately took to Zutphen, where he visited at the Assembly of the States of the Divisions of Gueldersland, he re-established the Government of that Province, which was absolutely become an Oligarchy, and put it upon the same Footing as King William the of England did when he re-united it to the Body of the Republic, after the Retreat of the French, who had been in ion of it. Great Things are hoped for from this Regulation. Could the same Steps be taken in the other Provinces, the balling Spirit which so much prevails amongst the old States, who have been turned out of their Employments, who yet retain Credit enough to traverse the good Intentions the Prince, would be destroyed, and the total Ruin of Republic, which must otherwise be inevitably the Consequence of such Practices, be prevented.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, dated October 31.

"The Report that has been current here, concerning the which the Cardinal Infant Don Lewis of Spain has Time entertained of quitting his Ecclesiastical Preferments, to marry, seems to be absolutely confirmed, and it is with a great deal of Assurance, that it will be to Madam This News is not only told as certain, but that it near being effected; but as no Particulars thereof are yet mentioned, we must have a little Patience, and wait to see what Time will produce: It may however be reasonably enough conjectured, if this Marriage takes Effect, from the Affection which the King bears to his Children, and particularly to Madam Henrietta, and from the many Millions which the Queen Dowager of Spain has been possessed of, and from her Tenderness for her Favourite Son the Cardinal Infant, that no Pains will be spared to procure this Prince an Establishment, which there is much Reason to believe will be the Kingdom of Corsica, as the Purchase Money would furnish the Genoese with the Means of recovering the Credit of the Bank of St. George, and in Case the Infant Cardinal should succeed his Brother in the Duchies of Parma and Placentia, a Sort of a Subsidy would be secured to them. If what has been said be Fact, as there is good Grounds to believe it is, Don Lewis stands fair to be a King; and it is whispered here, that even a Negotiation is carrying on for obtaining him also the Crown of Sardinia; and in Consideration of the present King's Consent to resign it, he is to be vested with the Title of the King of Lombardy. These Things are however scarcely to be brought about without some Contest, for which Reason some People, even here in France, lay but little Stress upon the pacific Intentions which are attributed to the Ministry, as well as the King; they ask, What all this Money is drawn from the People for? And, Why is this extraordinary Armament by Sea, in a Time of profound Peace? In short, the People who are in this Way of thinking, find many Things in the Conduct of France which utterly contradict the peaceable Disposition so much talked of."

Corunna, in Spain, November 2.

At La Grana in the Harbour of Ferrol, where three Men of War, of 70 Guns each, were riding at their Moorings, all disarmed and lately careened, having only their Boatswains, with a few Boys, on board to take Care of them, viz. The Invincible, Vencedor, and Tyger, with four small Ships called Packets, or Advice Boats, a Fire broke out in the Forecastle or Cook Room of the Invincible, on the 30th past, about one o'Clock in the Morning which burnt with such Violence, that it soon consumed and parted her Cables, and put her adrift, and then bearing down with the Tide, she immediately run her Head close up to the Vencedor's Stern, and continued grappled there so long, as to set her also quite in a Flame, and soon burnt down to her Stern, which disentangled the Invincible, and then she drove very near the Tyger; but the People having by that Time, cut her loose from her Moorings, as likewise the four Advice Boats, they got her and them, near the Shore, so as to be just clear of the Fire-ship, as the Invincible might justly be termed. The Current drove her a little to the Eastward, and fixed her on Shore against the Rocks, where she could do no further Damage; and the Vencedor continued burning at her Moorings till late the next Day, when she was reduced to the Waters Edge. They were both fine new Ships, built at the Havannah, and came home with the first Flota that arrived from thence, after the late War. The Boatswains of the two Ships immediately fled to the Convent; but Soldiers were soon sent to take them from thence; tho' it is not believed, that either of them were guilty, but only so much frighted as scarcely to know what they did. Nobody can tell how the Fire first happened.

From the Paris A la main, November 6.

On Monday last a Courier arrived at Fontainbleau, who had been dispatched to his most Christian Majesty by the Duke de Chartres, President of the States of Bretagne, with the agreeable News, that the States, when assembled, had unanimously agreed to pay his Majesty the 20th Penny.

It is hoped likewise, that the States of Bourgoigne, who will very shortly hold their Assembly, as also those belonging to Artois, will be equally unanimous in their Assent to the same Demand.

LONDON.

October 30. By a private Letter from Madrid we are informed, that the new Spanish Manufactories are already brought to such Perfection, by the Assistance of the Artificers they have got from England, that their Broad-Cloths are equal in Goodness to any made in this Kingdom, and that they sell them Two Shillings in a Yard cheaper than ours of the same Quality can be bought here. All the Difference between their Cloth and ours, is, that it has not so fine a Gloss, which is owing to their not having yet attained to the right Method of Packing and Pressing.

We learn from Vienna, that it is a Point settled, the Archduke Joseph shall be crowned King of Hungary at Presburg, but that he is to keep his Court at Buda, as soon as the Palace, that is now building, is fit for his Reception. This seems to be thought a necessary Measure towards his being elected King of the Romans; an Affair that will certainly be brought on the Carpet early in the Spring.

We have Advice from Paris, that the French Commissaries had given up the Point they so long insisted on, that the settling the Limits of Nova-Scotia, and the Evacuation of the neutral Islands, should be taken into Consideration alternatively; so that the adjusting the Limits of the Territories of the two Crowns in America, makes the present Subject of their Conferences.

We hear that an effectual Method will be speedily applied, in order to prevent the scandalous and destructive Practice of Gaming in public Places, by which the unwary of both Sexes and of all Ranks, are frequently brought into great Inconveniencies, and meaner Persons reduced to such Necessities as tempt them to deceive their Creditors, or make Incursions on the Public, in order to supply the Deficiencies, occasioned by their Indiscretions.

Nov. 3. On Thursday last his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales (escorted by a Party of Horse Guards to Temple-Bar), came in a State Coach, attended by two other Coaches, in which were his Grace the Duke of Chandois, the Right Hon. the Earl of Bute, and several other Persons of Distinction, to Fishmongers-hall in Thames-street, to receive the Charter of the British Herring Fishery Company, as Governor thereof: Twenty-one Pieces of Cannon were fir'd at his Highness's Arrival. His Royal Highness was receiv'd at the Door of the Hall by Mr. Alderman Bethel, President of the Society; Mr. Alderman Janssen, Vice President; Edward Vernon, Esq; General Oglethorpe, and such of the Society as were in Town; and afterwards by the Masters and Court of Assistants of the Fishmongers Company, in their Gowns, who all waited on him to their Room. His Royal Highness being seated there, made a most gracious Speech, expressive of his high Regard for the Prosperity of the City of London. Then the Fishery Charter being read by Mr. Tomkyns, Clerk of the Fishmongers Company, his Royal Highness wish'd all imaginable Success to this National Undertaking, and declared that he had the Welfare of it extreamly at Heart. The Clerk then address'd his Royal Highness in the following Speech:

May it please your Royal Highness,

The Wardens and Commonalty of the Mystery of Fishmongers of the City of London, confident with their known Loyalty and Attachment to his MAJESTY, and every Branch of his Royal Family, could not omit this their first Opportunity of paying their Duty to your Royal Highness.

They very justly, Sir, esteem it a particular Honour conferr'd on this Company by your Royal Highness, in appointing their Hall for your Reception of the Royal Charter, for carrying on and improving the British White Herring Fishery; an Undertaking, promising the utmost extensive Advantage to this Nation, under the Patronage and Protection of your Royal Highness.

Upon this happy Occasion, Sir, this Worshipful Company beg Leave to assure your Royal Highness of their Duty and sincere Affection to his Majesty (which they are incapable of violating), most heartily wishing he may reign long and easy over a People sensible of their Happiness, expressing it in every Instance of Loyalty, Duty and Gratitude.

Not less, Sir, is their Affection to your Royal Highness, our Royal Consort the Princess, and your most illustrious Issue; earnestly desiring you may live, long live, the Favourites of Heaven, and Blessings of this Nation.

In Testimony of your Royal Highness's favourable Acceptance of these Expressions of their Duty and sincere Affection, this Worshipful Company humbly beg Leave to be permitted, at some future Opportunity, to wait on your Royal Highness with your Freedom of this Company. This, Sir, will ever be esteemed an Honour, great as your Royal Highness's Condescension in conferring it.

Which his Royal Highness was most graciously pleased to accept.

After which, the Table Cloth being spread, a large Quantity of pickled Herrings, &c. were serv'd up in China, when his Royal Highness and the whole Company eat very heartily. There was a considerable Concourse of Ladies and Gentlemen to see the Ceremony, who all breakfasted on Tea, Coffee, or Chocolate; and at the Entertainment of the Herrings, there was a Profusion of the richest Wines. His Royal Highness after again wishing the Herring Fishery Success, and appointing the Council to meet upon Business on Wednesday the 9th of November, retir'd seemingly with great Satisfaction; the Cannon firing at his going away.

His Royal Highness's Coach, during the Cavalcade, was preceded by his Footmen and Watermen, two and two.

ANNAPOLIS.

Last Thursday, the Boat which overset and sunk in the [illegible] on Tuesday, was weigh'd and brought into the Dock. It appeared to have been intirely by Mismanagement that the Persons lost their Lives; for the Sheets were all made fast; and it was a common Saying of Conner's, one of the Persons drowned, That he would sooner drown than be untied.

Some short Time since, Mr. Francis Linthicum, [illegible] Children, and two of his Negroes, having all of them been poisoned by some Means which is yet undiscovered, were all of them perfectly cured by Negro C[illegible]'s Medicine, printed in the Maryland Almanack of this Year. One other Negro died, for the Poison had run on him till it was too late for Cure.

[I received sundry short Letters this Week, desiring me to advertise Horses, taken up as Strays; but as I know the Writers, and as they did not so much as inclose Money for them, this is all the Notice will be taken of them till further Orders.]
